

“I had an extremely enriching and rewarding experience volunteering at Music Broth. It was wonderful to contribute my time to a cause very important to me - music access - and to become a part of the incredibly welcoming and supportive Music Broth community. My time there was also a great opportunity to develop and hone my skills - the team really want volunteering to be an opportunity to grow! If I was still living in Glasgow I would definitely still be volunteering there, and I would recommend the experience to anybody who is passionate about music accessibility.”
